(54) Title: KNOCK DOWN DIVAN BASE

(57) Abstract: One aspect of the invention provides a knock down divan base for a bed where the base comprises a pair of lateral side panels (12), a pair of end panels (14) and a plurality of corner posts (16) for securing the end and side panels together to provide a generally rectangular base. Each corner post is secured in interlocking engagement with a respective end and side panel by means of at least one interlocking brace (18) extending between the adjacent end and side panels. Preferably the side and end panels are substantially non-load bearing such that the corner posts support substantially the whole of the bed independently of the panels (12, 14). The invention also comprehends an interlocking corner post and brace arrangement for use in other items of furniture, for example chairs or the like where a support structure is required.

* Special categories of cited documents:

- A document defining the general state of the art which is not considered to be of particular relevance
- E earlier document but published on or after the International filing date
- L document which may throw doubts on priority claim(s) or which is cited to establish the publication date of another citation or other special reason (as specified)
- O document referring to an oral disclosure, use, exhibition or other means
- P document published prior to the International filing date but later than the priority date claimed

- T later document published after the International filing date or priority date and not in conflict with the application but cited to understand the principle or theory underlying the invention
- X document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered novel or cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is taken alone
- Y document of particular relevance; the claimed invention cannot be considered to involve an inventive step when the document is combined with one or more other such documents, such combination being obvious to a person skilled in the art.
- G document member of the same patent family
